BABIES ON BICYCLES.

It Looks Pretty, But It Is a Dangerous Practice.

Riding along Bay street the other afternoon on a bicycle was a young man with a child not over two years old sitting contentedly in an extra seat which had been fastened on the frame in front of the regular seat. The child and the young man appeared to be enjoying the ride immensely and attracted much attention from pedestrians. The little one's feet fitted snugly into a frame support and its hands rested on the handle bar. Altogether it appeared just as well satisfied and looked to be as safe as if in a buggy or other vehicle, says a Florida Times-Union reporter, but more than one person remarked:

"Just suppose the bicycle should strike something and turn over?"

If it should, the man could possibly get out of the wreck all right, but the child would not be so fortunate. It would be almost impossible for a rider to take care of a child should the bicycle get into a smash-up. It would be all he could do to look out for himself.

A Patent on Perpetual Motion.

BALLARD'S HOREHOUND SYRUP.

We guarantee this to be the best Cough Syrup manufactured in the whole wide world. This is saying a great deal, but it is true. For consumption, coughs, colds, sore throat, sore chest, pneumonia, bronchitis, asthma, croup, whooping cough, and all diseases of the throat and lungs, we positively guarantee Ballard's Horehound Syrup to be without an equal on the whole face of the globe. In support of this statement we refer to every individual who has ever used it, and to every druggist who has ever sold it. Such evidence is indisputable. Free trial bottle at R. C. Hardwick's drug store.

Great Falls, Mont., suffered a severe loss from fire on Sept. 27.

The Darlington, Wis., Journal says editorially of a popular patent medicine: "We know from experience that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is all that is claimed for it, as on two occasions it stopped excruciating pain, and possibly saved us from an untimely grave. We would not rest easy over night without it in the house." This remedy undoubtedly saves more pain and suffering than any other medicine in the world. Every family should keep it in the house, for it is sure to be needed sooner or later. For sale by R. C. Hardwick, druggist.

ESCAPED THE BEAR.

Only to Meet Suffering in a More Painful Form.

A Commercial Traveler Tells a Story of Startling Adventure—His Hero Wandered Nine Days in the Wilderness Bruised and Hungry.

Ira P. Smith, commercial agent of the north and south road, returned recently from a trip along the line. He tells a story which verifies, says the Arizona Republican, the saying that truth is stranger than fiction.

While he was going to Ash Fork a young man stepped aboard the train at Jerome Junction who looked like the second edition of Rip Van Winkle. The strange and uncouth being was undoubtedly young, but his face was pinched and drawn with hunger and his eyes large and haggard. His clothes hung about him in shreds, while the flesh that showed through the rents was lacerated and bruised. The aspect of the young man was one to excite pity. Mr. Smith spoke to the young man and asked him the cause of his forlorn appearance.

The young fellow stated that nearly three weeks ago he and another young man named Kennedy left Williams to go to Jerome to get work in the mines. Not having an abundance of money they concluded to walk the entire distance. They experienced nothing out of the ordinary until the third day on the trip. On that day about noon they were descending a mountain when a commotion in their rear caused them to look around, and, to their horror, they beheld a large cinnamon bear making directly for them. To think was to act, and the young man who tells the adventure dropped to the ground and rolled down the hill over brush, cactus and stones to an arroyo below. When he arrived at the bottom he was nearly insensible from his contact with the stones and cacti. He painfully picked himself up and could distinguish the agonizing cries of Kennedy on the hill above, and he felt certain his companion was in the clutches of the animal.

The cries soon ceased, and the young man set to work picking the cactus points that literally covered his person. The process was slow and tedious and attended with great agony. After he had rid himself of the cactus points he literally covered the wounds with mud to keep down the inflammation and started up the arroyo. Each succeeding day brought him no sign of a human habitation, and his lacerations made progress slow. He subsisted on berries and the fruit of the cactus, which he sucked to obtain moisture when water was not to be found. Each night he lay down thinking it was his last on earth, but would awaken in the morning stiff from his bruises and weak from hunger, but he staggered on, and on the ninth day struck Jerome Junction, more dead than alive.

How He Took Exercise.

Poor Harry Shelman, the long-haired port, who dressed his entire person to resemble Buffalo Bill, and who was, in fact, startlingly like the greatest of scouts, used to tell of a literary friend of his who had a novel method of taking exercise. His workshop was on the top floor of his house, far from the noise of the street, and he used to write about fifteen hours a day. He was not a Howells or a Bronson Howard, whose working hours never exceeded four in any one day. He worked; he labored; he toiled. He had no time for a bicycle and could not afford a horse. He hated walking. Run he could not. Still he must have exercise. He kept his dictionary in the basement and his thesaurus in the kitchen. As he used both very often it was necessary to make many trips downstairs and up again, and in that way he kept himself in splendid physical condition. A visitor once saw him dashing downstairs like a madman and soaring up again like a kite, and was distressed till informed by John's wife that John was simply hunting for a word and had found it.

Monday Is Wash Day Just the Same.

"I don't see why it isn't as well to hang out the family wash on Wednesday as upon Monday," said a disgusted man. "Yet I have known women who wouldn't have a flat unless they could wash on Monday. As five floors of two families can't dry in the back yard and on the roof the same day, and the Monday prejudice is very strong, landlords have had to erect huge telegraph poles in the rear of the flat houses, from which pole lines are operated on a level of each floor. This system also affords the additional pleasure of a near view of the number and character of your neighbors' family wash. There must be some substantial reason for a woman doing just as her neighbors do, and what all women in the civilized world do and have been doing for hundreds of years."

A Miracle in Texas.

INVESTIGATED BY THE TEXAS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE AND VOUCHERED FOR BY DR. C. H. STANSBURY.

(From the Texas Christian Advocate.)

Our representative has made a careful investigation of the H. E. Spaulding case at Longview, which is here published for the first time, and which will be read with great interest by medical men everywhere. In reply to the Christian Advocate's questions Mr. Spaulding said: About eight years ago while running a locomotive I contracted sciatic rheumatism in my left side from my hip down. It came on slow but sure and in a few months I lost control entirely of that member, it was just the same as if it was paralyzed, I was totally unable to move out of my room for a year and a half, six months of which time I was bed-ridden. I tried every remedy suggested, and had regular physicians in constant attendance on me. I was bundled up and sent to Hot Springs where I spent three months under the treatment of the most eminent specialists, all of which did me no good, and I came back from the springs in a worse condition than when I went. I came home and laid flat on my back and suffered the most excruciating agonies, screaming in pain every time anybody walked across the room, the only ease I obtained being from the constant use of opiates. After three months of this kind of agony, during which time my entire left leg perished away to the very bone, my attention was called to a new remedy called Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, by Mr. Allison who is now train dispatcher at Texarkana, and who was relieved of locomotor ataxia of twenty years duration. At his urgent and repeated solicitation I consented to give them a trial, after taking a few doses I began to improve. I continued taking the pills and kept right on improving until I was finally cured. My leg is just the same size now as the other one, and I am sure that Pink Pills not only cured me but saved my life.

The reporter next visited Dr. C. H. Stansbury, a graduate of one of the medical schools of Kentucky, and a man who enjoys the confidence of everybody in Longview. He said: "I know that Mr. Spaulding had a terribly severe attack of sciatic rheumatism of which I tried to cure him; used everything known to my profession in vain, and finally recommended him to go to Hot Springs. He came back from the springs worse than when he went and I thought it was only a matter of time until his heart would be affected and he would die. I also know that his cure is the direct result of the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

"That is rather an unusual statement for a regular physician to make, doctor."

"I know it is, but a fact is a fact, and there are hundreds of people right here in Longview who know what I say is the truth. I also know Mr. Allison and know that he was relieved of a genuine and severe case of locomotor ataxia of twenty years standing."

Deciphering an Abbreviation.

"Here's a letter for Dugout, B. K.," said one postal clerk to another. "What do you suppose B. K. stands for? Not British Columbia, surely?"
 "No," replied the man addressed. "That stands for 'Bleeding Kansas.'"
 It was sent to the Sunflower state.—Judge.

Even Up.

Ethel Singleton—But tell me, dear, does a man get really angry every time he comes home and finds dinner isn't ready?
 Mrs. Benedict (sweetly)—Yes; just about as angry as a woman gets every time she has it ready and he doesn't come home.—Puck.

That Ended the Dream.

At midnight in his guarded tent
 The Turk was dreaming of the hour
 When Greece, her knee in supplication bent
 Would tremble at his power.
 And in his dreams the foeman fell
 Before his blade's fell stroke.
 And everything had come his way—
 And then the baby woke.
 —Detroit Tribune

The Modern Daughter.

"I wish to ask your permission to pay my addresses to your daughter," said the old-fashioned young man.
 "All right," said the old gentleman. "If I can get her permission to give you my permission, go ahead."—Indianapolis Journal.

Poor, Blind Papa!

Peremann—Hattie is such an affectionate daughter. This morning I received such a tender, appreciative three-page letter from her at school.
 Hattie's Sister (cynically)—What did she ask you for in the postscript?—Truth.

Travels of the Puff.

Oldboy—I wonder where these big puffed sleeves are going to end?
 Guffy—I don't know; the bicycle girls just now seem to wear them between the waist and the knees!—Harper's Bazar.

A Mean Lover.

I love to make my Mabel cry.
 By jealous taunts and jeers.
 For then I get a chance to try
 And kiss away her tears.
 —Harper's Bazar.

FORCE OF (RIDING) HABIT.

She stood ready, dressed for cycling.
 In her latest costume, sweet.
 And her husband, charmed, enraptured,
 Could have worshipped at her feet.

She was in the act of mounting.
 Yet she seemed to hesitate:
 Then she asked with child-like vigor:
 "Are my bloomers on quite straight?"
 —Truth.

Strange and Rare.

"How Strange a Thing Is Man."
 This was the title of her graduation essay.
 Afterwards she went to the summer resort hotel and found that he was even more so.—N. Y. Recorder.
